Commercial and Industrial Construction

François S. Hamel, President

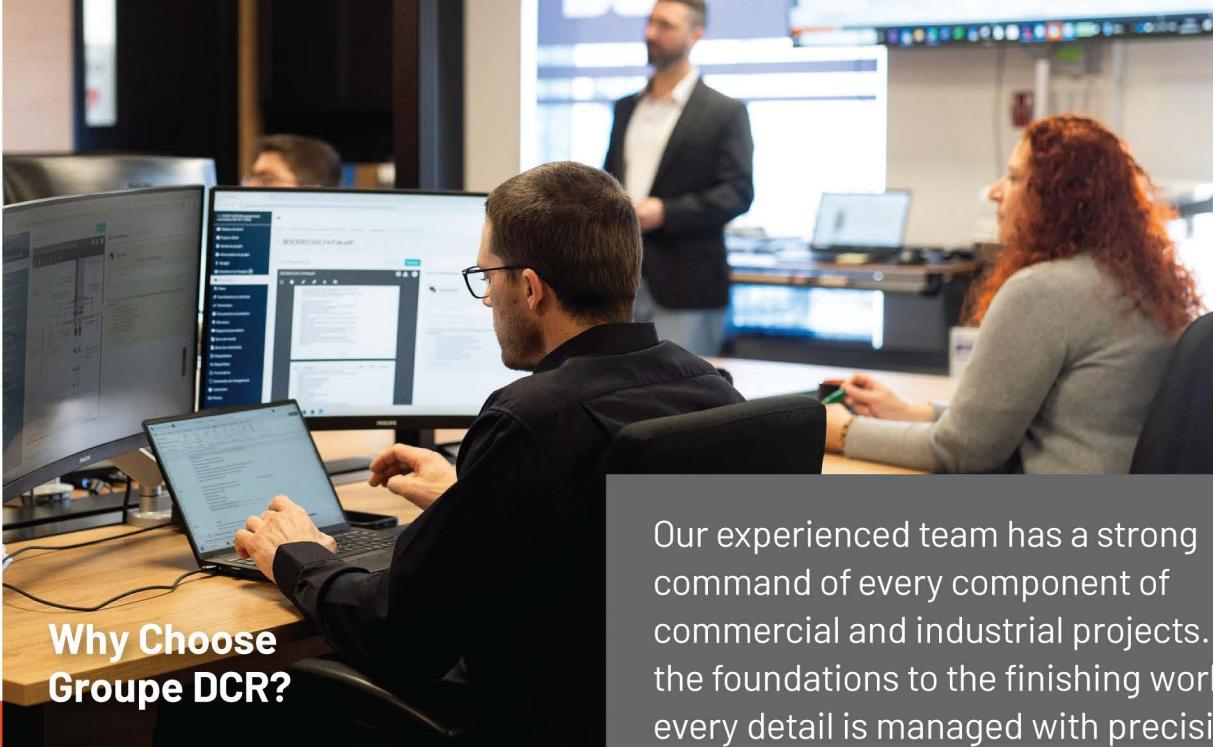

The Contractor Who Builds Trust

Your strategic partner for large-scale projects.

At Groupe DCR, we understand that commercial and industrial projects require far more than technical execution.

They demand a clear vision, rigorous planning, and excellence at every stage.

Whether it's the construction of multiplexes, factory expansions, or other highly complex developments, we bring our expertise to support your success.

Why Choose Groupe DCR?

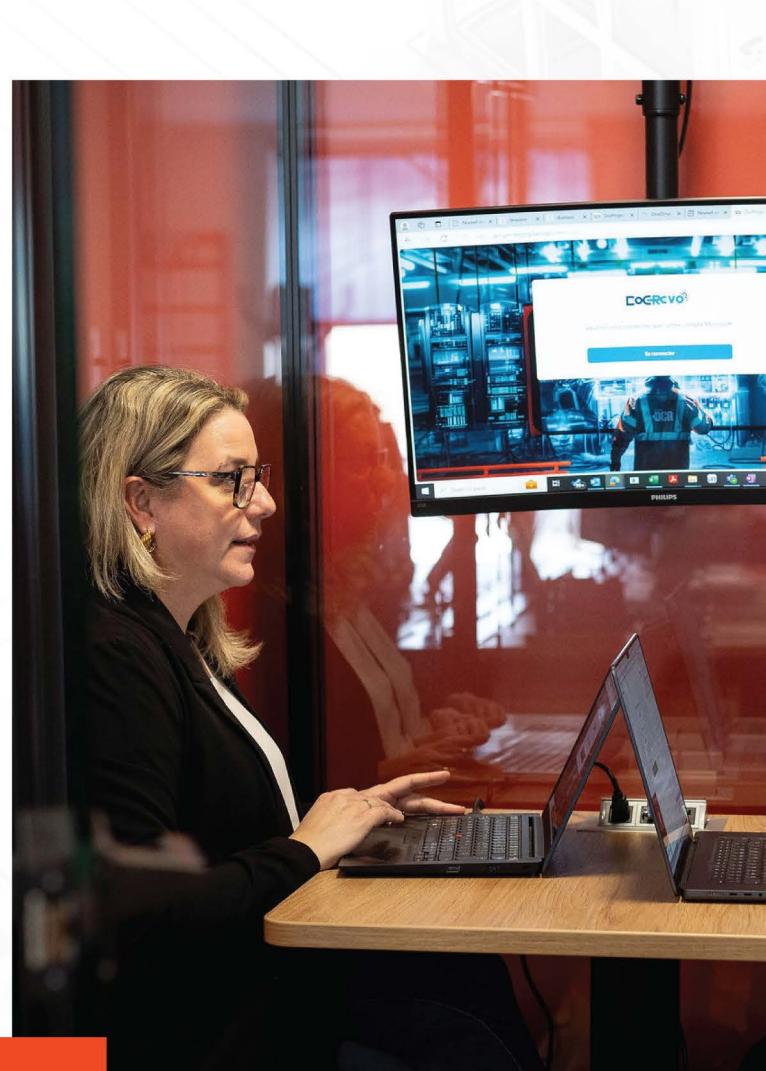

Our experienced team has a strong command of every component of commercial and industrial projects. From the foundations to the finishing work, every detail is managed with precision. We anticipate challenges to deliver buildings that are durable, functional, and compliant with the highest quality standards.

Integrated Project Management

With a turnkey approach, we ensure smooth coordination among all stakeholders, adherence to tight schedules, and strong cost control.

You benefit from a single point of contact and complete oversight of your project, without the hassle.

We integrate the latest technologies and construction methods, relying on innovation to enhance execution speed and the accuracy of the work performed.

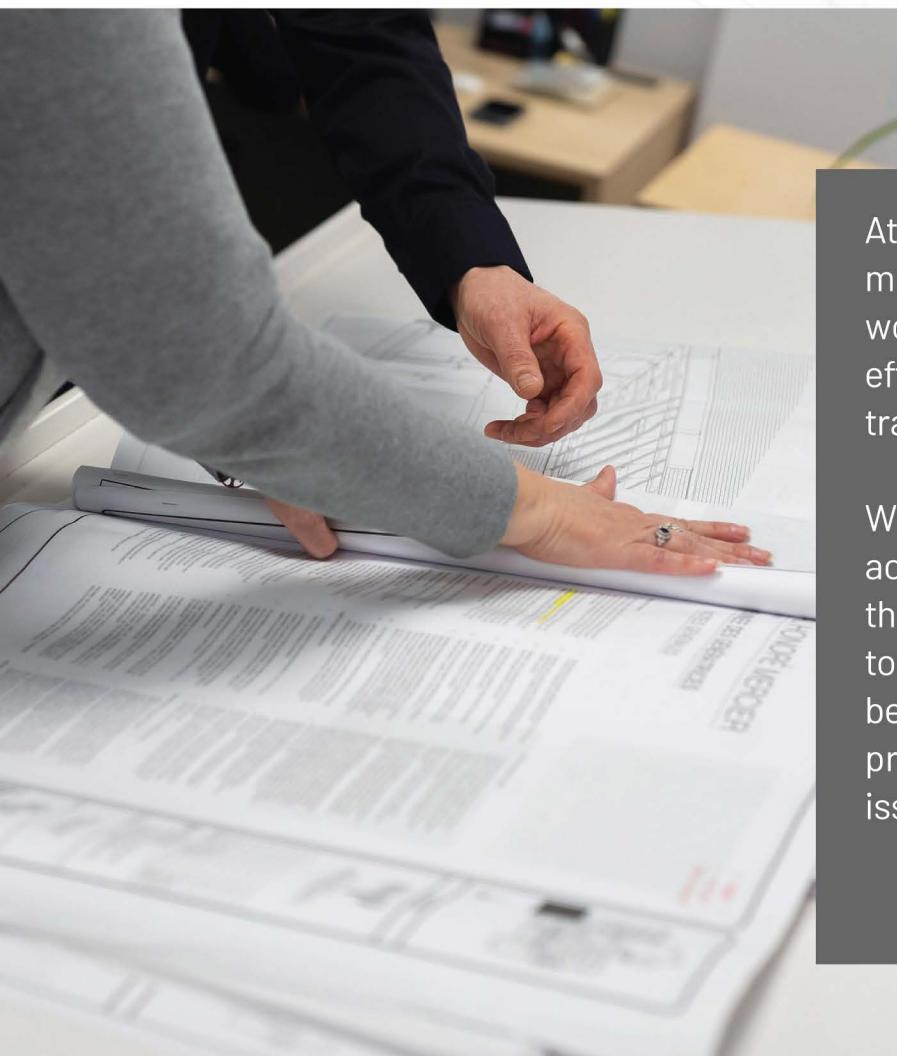

Expansions & Renovations

The redesign of office and commercial spaces must be planned to maximize efficiency and reflect your identity. A well-designed environment adapts to your operations and enhances productivity.

We create custom layouts that are functional and inspiring, perfectly aligned with your needs and business reality.

Design-Build

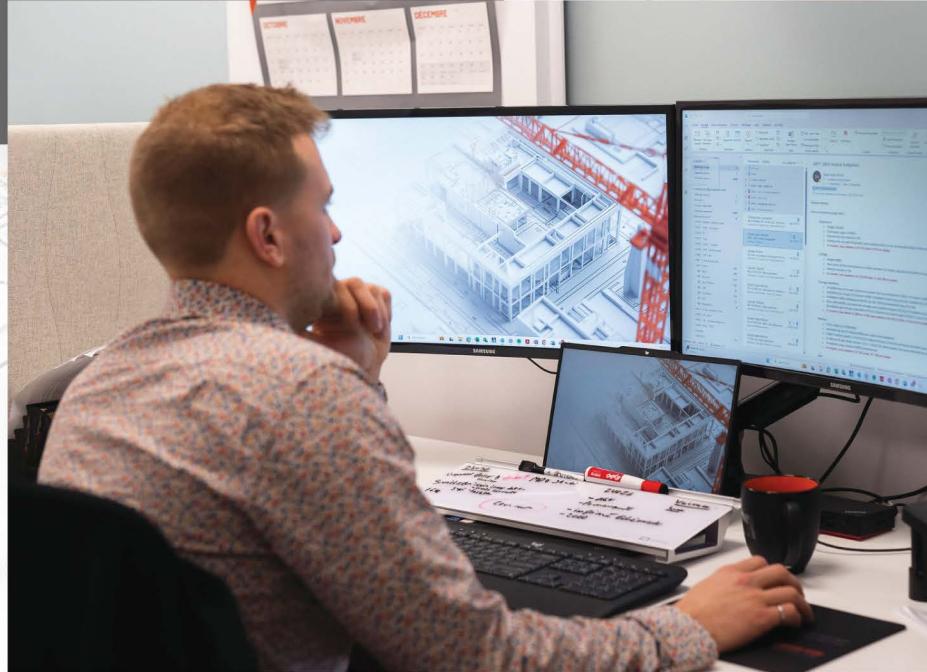

At Groupe DCR, design-build is more than a service, it's a working method rooted in efficiency, reliability, and transparency.

We build your projects with accuracy and vision, bringing all the necessary expertise together from the very beginning to simplify the process, reduce unexpected issues, and optimize results.

A Discipline That Makes the Difference

Groupe DCR is a leader in institutional projects. This type of project requires a high level of execution rigour and proven structural reliability.

When applied to commercial projects such as multiplexes, this discipline becomes a valuable asset.

Entrust your project to Groupe DCR and benefit from the support of a reliable general contractor who understands your business challenges and delivers a building that meets your ambitions.

Do you have a vision? We have the means to build it.

Our goal is to help you move forward with confidence, knowing that every decision and every step is aligned with your business priorities.

At Groupe DCR, we approach your project with the commitment of a true partner, far beyond the role of a simple service provider.
